What Was Lacking,

An artist was talking about the late Walter Appleton Clark, who died at the beginning of his artistic career. "And Clark," he said, "had a strong sense of humor. I remember going through a millionaire's stables out a plan for the shoot, but it seems trimmings and so forth and so on. 'Well, gentlemen,' said the millionaire, proudly 'is anything lacking?' 'I can think of nothing,' said Clark, 'except a sofa for each horse.' "
